Under Dr. Cook's Administration

STUDENT ENROLLMENT CONTINUES TO CLIMB

With a record 2007 fall enrollment of 5,244 students, DBU's enrollment has nearly tripled with an increase of 182% since Dr. Gary Cook became president in 1988. DBU has enjoyed substantial increases in freshman and transfer students, and its adult education and graduate programs continue to grow in record numbers.

At the beginning of the Fall 2007 semester, DBU's enrollment showed steady increases with—

- ◆ Over 3,500 undergraduate students with more than 60 majors
- ◆ More than 1,600 graduate students in 22 master's degree programs
- ◆ Two doctoral programs enrolling 119 students
- ◆ Approximately 500 international students representing 50 countries from around the world
- ◆ On-campus student population growing to over 1,300 students living in dorms, apartments, and townhomes

GRADUATE STUDENT ENROLLMENT FALL 1987 - FALL 2007

Over the last 20 years, enrollment in the DBU Graduate School has increased by nearly 800% from 187 in the fall of 1987 to 1,673 in the fall of 2007.

With over 13,500 square feet of office space, DBU-North provides students convenient classrooms as well as academic advising. Combined with DBU-Tarrant, these two regional academic centers give students the opportunity of having a DBU education without having to drive across town.

New Regional Academic Centers

EXPANDING AROUND THE METROPLEX

Meeting the needs of a growing and diverse student population as well as the challenges of the twenty-first century, Dallas Baptist University has continued its tradition of providing quality education through a variety of options. Over the past several years, DBU has established two regional academic centers, one located in Collin County and the other situated in Tarrant County. Each location provides office space for DBU faculty and staff members, as well as classroom space for courses, allowing students to apply for admission, register for classes, purchase books, and take courses without having to drive across the Metroplex.

- ◆ DBU-North regional academic center established in 2001, serving students in North Dallas and Collin County
- ◆ In 2001, DBU-North opened with classes for 148 students, and by the fall of 2007, 495 students were enrolled in 100 classes
- ◆ DBU-North, relocated in Frisco, Texas, expanded to over 13,500 square feet, complete with classroom space and break room for students, as well as office space for eight full-time staff members and two full-time faculty members
- ◆ Two undergraduate and five graduate degrees available for students at the DBU-North campus, including the M.A. in Counseling, MBA, M.A. in Management, Master of Education, and M.Ed. in School Counseling
- ◆ DBU-Tarrant opened in Colleyville in 2005, providing 3,352 square feet of classroom and office space
- ◆ In 2005, some 50 students attended classes at DBU-Tarrant, and by the fall of 2007, the number grew to 186 students enrolled in 26 classes
- ◆ DBU trustee Patsy Smith donated nearly two acres in Hurst in order to provide a permanent location for DBU-Tarrant
- ◆ In the spring of 2008, a groundbreaking ceremony was held for the Herman and Patsy Smith Center, which will serve as the centerpiece to a new DBU-Tarrant location

Online Classes, Degrees Expand

QUALITY EDUCATION ANY TIME, ANY PLACE

Online classes were first made available to DBU students in 1998, with 11 students enrolled. Since that time, DBU online education has continued to expand, creating new courses and developing special “hybrid” courses, which allow students to complete half of their class online and the other half in the classroom. In the fall of 2007, 1,614 students enrolled in 236 online and hybrid courses. These students represent 38 different states and six foreign countries. The flexibility offered through the program has allowed many students the opportunity to achieve their educational goals, even while traveling abroad for business, moving to another state, or being deployed to fight in a foreign country.

According to Kaye Shelton, DBU dean of online education, online education allows DBU to provide its unique blend of Christ-centered education literally across the globe. “DBU professors are doing the same things they do in the classroom—mentoring, praying, and encouraging—online,” she shared. “Through our online program, we can assure that we will provide quality education—any time, any place.”

Improvements and Beautification

CAMPUS CONTINUES TO EXPAND AND GROW BY LEAPS AND BOUNDS

Under the leadership of Dr. Gary Cook, the Dallas Baptist University campus has continued to expand as new buildings have been constructed, rooms and facilities renovated, and trees, sculptures, and flowers added to make University Hill as attractive aesthetically as it is academically. The campus improvements have not gone unnoticed to the many guests who visit DBU. Among the many accolades received for the beauty and tranquility of the campus, Ebby Halliday Acers, DBU supporter and fixture of the Dallas-Fort Worth real estate industry, exclaimed, "It is almost unbelievable that so much has been done in building the structures, the enrollment, the curriculum, the image and prestige of what has to be the most beautiful campus to be seen anywhere!"
