

SWAT WEEK 2008

Dallas Baptist University welcomed over 400 new students who participated in the annual Student Welcome and Transition (SWAT) Week held August 20-23. Observed for two decades, the event has become a cherished Patriot tradition.

Divided into teams and small groups, the incoming students participated in a variety of activities aimed at introducing them to life at DBU. From forums to service projects, advisor meetings to competitive games, special speakers to their first nights in the dorms, small group discussions to worship services, and ringing the Liberty Bell to having their feet washed by team leaders, students received a taste of the unique lifestyle embraced by DBU Patriots.

Amid this introduction to college life, new students began to form bonds with faculty and staff who will be instrumental in leading them as well as with friends who will learn, encourage, and serve alongside them as they pursue God's calling in their lives.
